

HOFMANN CENTER AT NEW BOLTON CENTER

EMBRYO TRANSFER FEES FOR THE 2021-22 BREEDING SEASON

The Georgia and Philip Hofmann Center for Animal Reproduction at Penn Vet's New Bolton Center offers a full range of embryo transfer services. Clients can choose to use one of Hofmann Center's resident recipient mares or provide their own recipient mare. We recover embryos for domestic transport. Embryo vitrification is also available upon request.

¹ Lease payment of the recipient mare is required after pregnancy is established and the recipient is 30 days in foal. Owner shall return each recipient in good health within 7 months of the foaling date. Recipients remaining at the Hofmann Center beyond 30 days of pregnancy will be charged $21/day board.

² A cycle management fee of $389 is applicable to each cycle. This fee includes palpation, ultrasonography and inseminations with fresh or shipped semen. Breeding with frozen semen or live cover will incur extra charges.

⁴ Does not include courier fee or Equitainer rental.

Note: The above fees do not include reproductive treatments or therapies nor do they include charges for drugs, diagnostics, transportation of semen/embryos or medical treatment of the donor or client-owned recipient.
